UK and Ireland Markets Update

Dear Rachel,

A global coalition of over 80 fire safety leadership organisations, including RICS, launched a new internationally consistent approach to the safety and management of buildings last week, with the aim of saving more lives by reducing risk and preventing devastating fires. You can read more about the International Fire Safety Standards Common Principles.

The marketplace is changing, so it's important you remain ready for future challenges and have the latest skills and knowledge to make a success of them. To help you command the trust of the clients you serve and make it easier for you to ensure you are upholding their expectation of the highest ethical standards, we are providing a clearer set of rules of conduct. The new rules are open for consultation, and we invite all RICS professionals to take part. Please submit your feedback before the consultation close date on 07 December 2020.

Kind regards,
